Our School

You may think it's odd to see a talking dog, but I, The Wauconda Bulldog, am a pretty unusual and special pup; at least everyone at W.T.H.S. seems to think so. That's what's so wonderful about this school; lots of spirit.

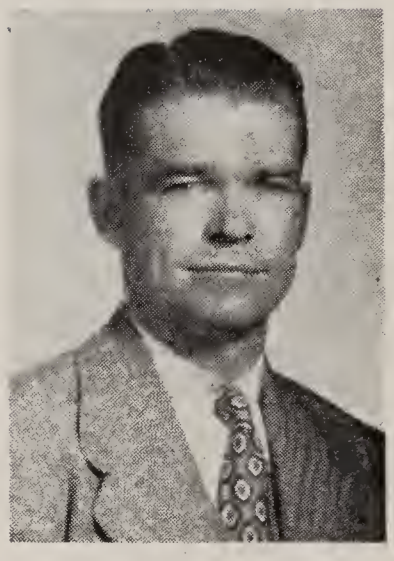
I'd say we have "A small school with a big heart; one that offers a great deal of variety of subjects in its cirriculum." That's what makes it a big school, and I know you'll agree with me, after you've shared some of the experiences and memories of the '48 and '49 school year, throughout the pages of this, The Bulldog Annual.

Top Men

Mr. Warfield is an old friend of mine, for I see him at school every day. If you ever need help in choosing your school subjects, (or any other advice, for that matter), you can count on Mr. Warfield to be there ready to lend a hand.

But who are these other dignified men? Why yes, they must be the school board. I never knew how really important our school board is, but after inquiring I certainly found out. Let's say your taking history, and there isn't a map to study. Who gets this map? Why, the school board, of course. And what would you do without the reference books in the library? I bet you would just plain flunk!

See kids, it's these important men that help get things done and I say hats off to the top men—Mr. Warfield and our school board, who administer our school so well.



Mr. Richard Warfield

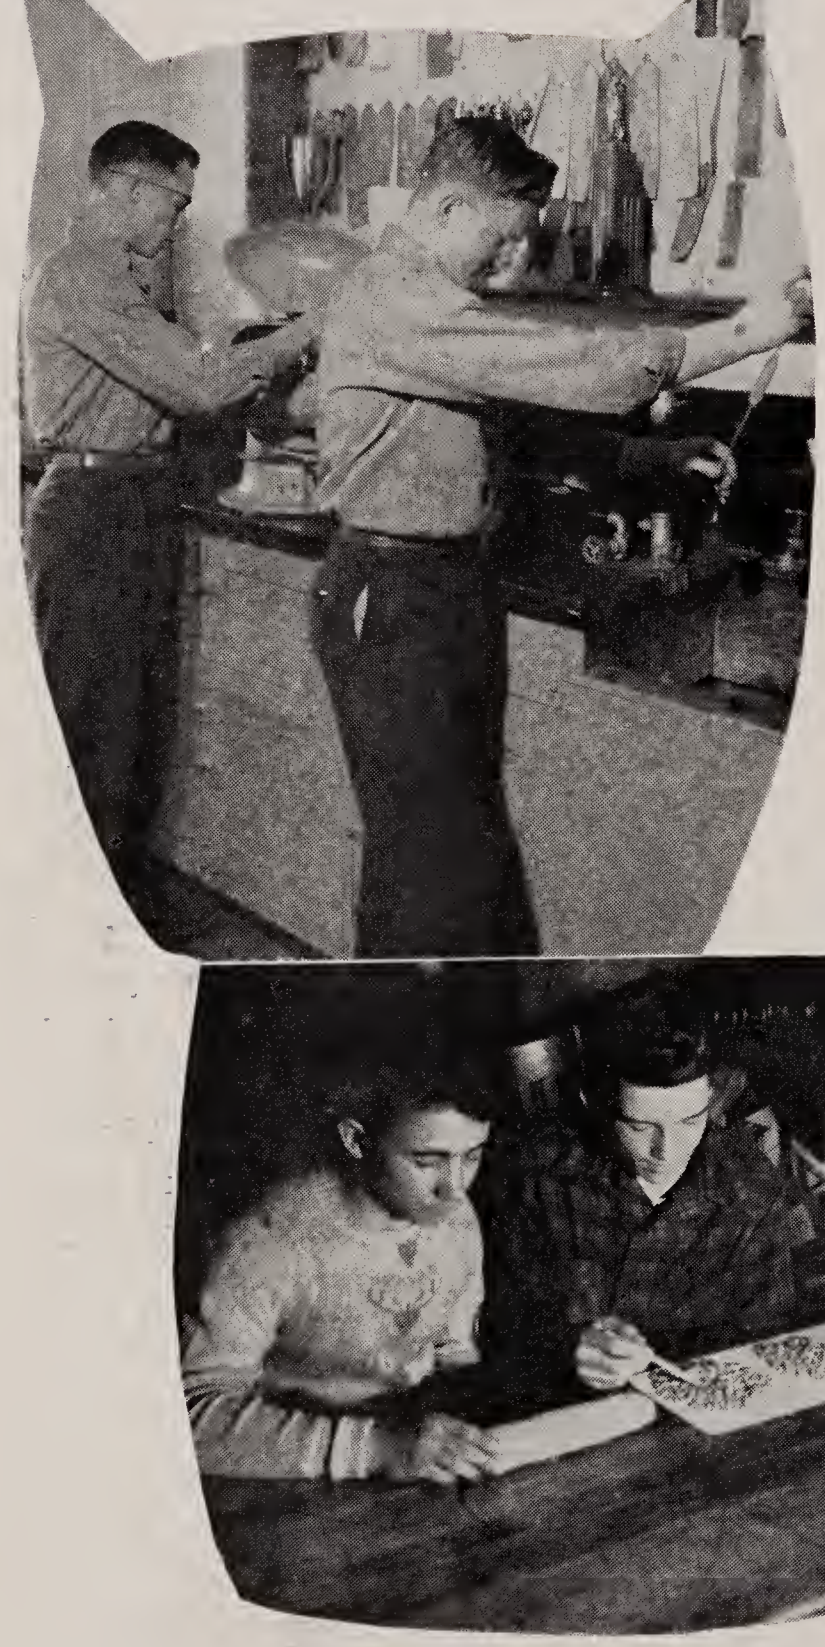
A Look at Our School

Home Ec.

Come right into the school with me. I'd like to introduce our departments and their instructors. First let's turn to the right and have a look at our Home Economics department. Miss McCabe is over by the sewing machines demonstrating the newest method of putting in a zipper. A few of the girls are in one of the kitchens, baking their favorite clover-leaf rolls. Can you see the rest of the girls over there in the living room? They're learning a little about interior decorating. Through their experiences in our modernly equipped home economics room, the girls are learning the newest methods of efficient homemaking.

I never realized that there were so many other parts of Home Economics. Why, cooking, sewing, home plans, budgeting, child care, nutrition, how to serve, and table manners are just a few of the many problems the Home Ec girls take up.

Agriculture



I'd like you to step over to the agriculture room with me now, since the ag boys have just come back from a field trip. They've been out to one of the nearby farms, getting practice in identifying breeds. Agriculture is a subject that has rapidly grown more popular. Mr. Warfield teaches more than just plain farming. The boys are learning the latest scientific methods of crop-growing, animal breeding, and soil conservation.

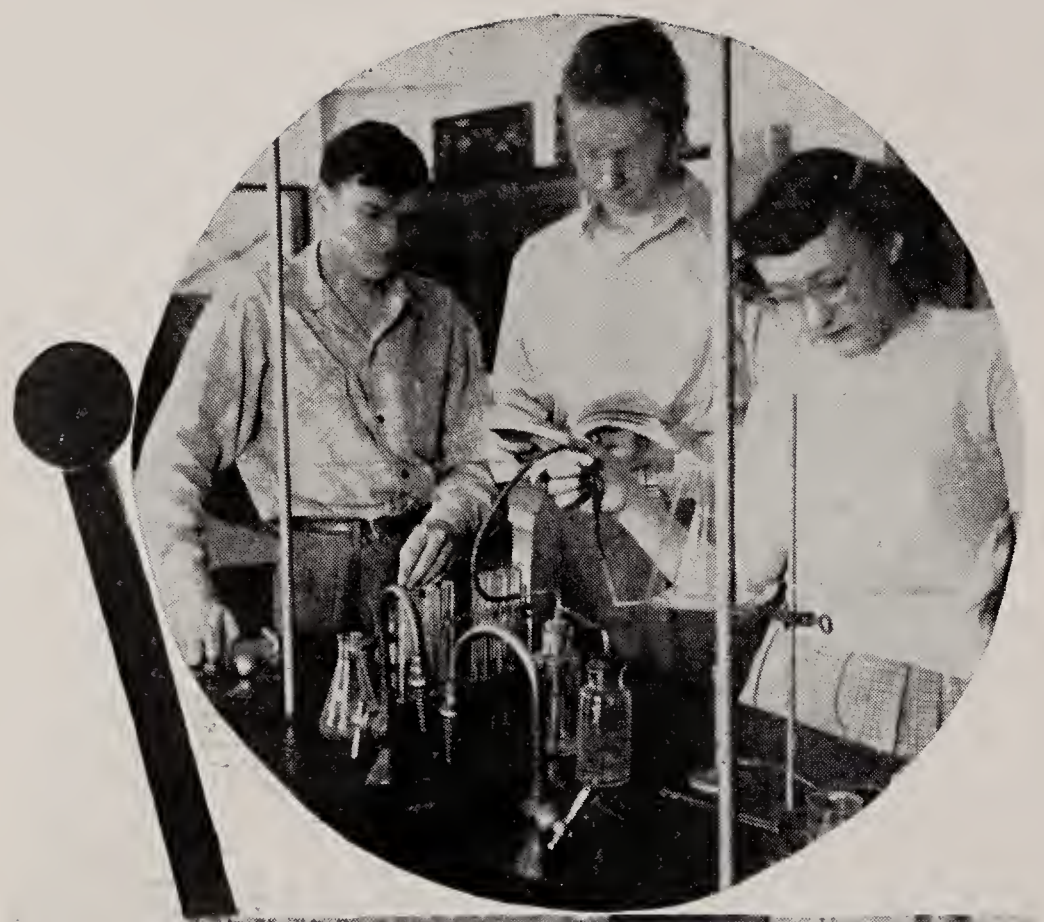
The Wauconda chapter of the F. F. A. and 4H are really progressive groups. Last year they won many cups in competition. They won not only individual prizes, but awards for the club as a whole.

Social Studies

Now I'm really proud to introduce our Social Studies teacher, Mr. Icenogle. He teaches a complete variety of history subjects. Anyone who used to think history was a dull dry, subject, aught to attend his classes. Why, you can actually believe you were right on that boat with Columbus after taking American History. And say, those government students are going to be one group of citizens, who will take part in governmental affairs. They know how congress works, the duties of government officials, and just exactly how to mark the little X on those voting ballots.

What, you say that you thought only American History was necessary for graduation? Yes, that's right. That's all that's required, but the students here don't have to be satisfied with that. Why.for those who are thinking of someday becoming President of the United States. will find American Government very helpful. And, since some of our students want to know about history in other parts of the world, too, they can just sign up for our World History course. Who knows to where some of our students might be traveling some day? Just to be sure they know what to expect wherever they may go, we offer an Economic Geography course.

Science



Now, I'd like you to step downstairs so you can take a glimpse of our science laboratory. Our lab is fully equipped with up-to-date scientific equipment. Gathered around one of the lab tables, is a group of our potential chemists. Under the supervision of Mr. Steben, the students are determining the solubility of sodium chloride.

Last period Mr. Wadington and his biology students were quite busy dissecting insects. This morning Mr. Zar and his Physics class were working on their own projects.

The field of science at W.T.H.S. certainly offers a great opportunity to study many various subjects. Such courses as Physics, General Science, Biology, and Chemistry, give our students a chance to find out some of the things that go through a curious mind. Four years of Science for the future Scientist.

Math

Would you be able to figure out the value of X, when Y equals Z? Confusing, isn't it? But most of Mr. Zar's math students are really whizes.,Why, the trigonometry class even assisted in marking off the dimensions of our football field! And those geometry students really know how to figure out how many degrees in any angle of an isoscles triangle. The algebra students aer busy learning the fundamentals of math, so that when they get into advanced algebra, they'll be able to figure out the most complicated problems.

Wauconda certainly doesn't miss a trick as far as mathematics are concerned. For these mental whizes who like a subject that's challenging to the brain and also very helpful in thousands of life's everyday problems, W.T.H.S. offers math, algebra, geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry, and solid geometry.

Language

Buenos Dias Amigos. I'll bet you didn't know I could speak Spanish, too. Well, I'm not very good at it, but, I've attended a few of Miss McCoy's Spanish classes throughout the year and I picked up a few well-known Spanish expressions.

And speaking of languages, the English classes have really been interesting this year. The students have had a combination of literature, library work, and have given quite a few speeches. Mr. Stadfeld and Mr. Icenogle have concentrated on teaching freshmen and sophomore English, while Miss McCoy teaches juniors and seniors and one of the freshman classes.

So you see that our language department contains a foreign language besides all of the fields of English, such as composition, speech debate, library work and literature

Shop

Now, I'd like to show you some real masterpieces. Yes sir, you can sure see that Mr. Holz and his shop boys haven't been doing any loafing. Listen, you can hear them pounding on some nails right now. The fellas have buiilt dozens of useful articles throughout the year. In mechanical drawing, they've made many complex plates on various mechanical instruments. It's been excellent training, besides being something that they really like to do.

The boys have learned to work with both hand and power tool, study home-building, home planning, and have had extensive electrical training. Shop is a practical course that will pay dividends later, when these boys wish to build and remodel their own homes.

Commercial

Let's go upstairs now, and watc those students pecking frantically at the typewriters. They are trying to work up their speed so that they can get a pin at the end of the year. Mr. Punzel has promised pins to all those typing 50 words a minute for 15 minutes, with less than ten errors.

Those first year shorthand students are keeping busy studying those brief forms. They have to be able to take 60 words a minute for 5 minutes in order to pass the course. The second year students have to take 80 words per mnute. Some of the students have actually hit as high as 100 and 110 words per minute.

The bookeeping students are going to find that subject to come in mighty handy. It takes an awfully lot of figuring to work out a money budget or an income tax form.

A student couldn't ask for more in the way of commercial studies. W. T. H. S. offers complete, detailed courses in typing, shorthand, and bookeeping, and what more is needed to turn out an efficient and capable business manager or secretary.

Music

Mmmmm, couldn't you just go to sleep? It must be that dreamy music coming from the room down the hall. The mixed chorus, glee clubs, and band, have worked pretty hard this year to put out some exceptionally good music for all our concerts and for tther special occasions..

Considering we have a pretty small school, few in the number of students, Mr. Stadfeld has really done wonders in directing some very beatiful selections.

Music is one department that everyone likes. Whether they enjoy playing a musical instrument in the regular band, or in the swing band, singing in boys or girls glee clubs, or in mixed chorus, it's all found here at W.T.H.S. to fill out a well rounded cirriculum.

Physical Education

Whistles — Whistles — I keep hearing whistles this morning. Let's find out where they're coming from. Oh, now I see, it's one of those exciting basketball games in Mr. Wadington's Physical Education class. Mr. Wadington is showing the fellas a new play, so we can beat that tough opposition.

This morning Miss McCoy and her girls P. E. class were practicing up on their volley ball, so that they can win some of those intra-mural games.

Mr. Holz has really been keeping busy, working with our junior varsity team. Those fellas really know how to put that ball in the basket!

Mr. Steben puts a lot of his time in coaching football and track. Why, those track stars can even outrun me, and you must know that a bulldog like me, is pretty fast.

There are unlimited chances for expansion in the field of Physical Education. Not only do we have regular P. E. periods, but there are opportunities to play on the basketball, football, baseball, and track teams in competition with other schools. Intra-mural contests are held in volley-ball, basketball, wrestling and boxing, thus providing many extra cirricular activities for all who are interested.

I Remember When?

Ah yes, everyone of us remember. In fact, we, the seniors, have thousands of memories running through our minds. After all, who could ever forget that first day of High School? Certainly, not the seniors of '49. We entered W.T.H.S. on that bright September day in '45, laden with books, and now we are even willing to admit that we were just plain scared stiff. Of course, after that long feared night of iniation was over we felt more like we belonged. That iniation will always have a place in our memories. What we didn't go through! And, how about that first date in High School? Remember how the conversation sort of lagged and you became a little panicky at the thought of him or her never going out with you again? Little did we know, that many of those first dates would turn out to be some of our most cherished friends. Oh no, we weren't green freshies for long. In fact, we soon got bold enough to give a return party for those sophomores, who had so smugly initiated us. After that freshman year, we were ready to take our places at Wauconda, and when we came back the September of '46, we were a well organized and close class, who got along well together, and worked together in everything we were to do during our High School careers. At the first possible chance, we gave the new freshmen an initiation, which we hope left an impression. It was our turn, now that we were not the youngest class any longer. We continued our social life, by giving a taffy pull, and even if some who attended, should forget, the Home Ec. room will never forget the sticky wear and tear it received that evening. The year continued and our class had very large turnouts at all school dances and at the basketball games. After all, we had to, not only support the varsity team, but we had to yell our loudest for the Juniior Varsity, since five of our able men played on the team.

When we came back to W.T.H.S. after the summer of '47, we were quite ready to take our place as the junior class. We received a few more responsibilities, but still, as a co-operative, friendly class we accepted them and did a good job. Remember the evening in November, when the High School was packed? What could it be, but our own class play, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." The whole class helped to make it a success, even though we never thought it could be possible, after those numerous practices where lines had to be gone over and over. We worked hard for those few weeks, but still, we had loads of fun and don't think we weren't a pretty proud class when we heard that large applause as the curtain was going down. There's something we just can't hold back any longer. It's one of the most cherished memories we own. Yes, it's the Junior Prom. Within those closed doors, from the resounding hammers and swish of pait brushes, came a completely revised gym, presenting our Mexican Fiesta. We really worked hard to make it a successful prom, and on that lovely May evening, the minute we entered our fiesta in new gay formals, and slick suits, we knew it was everything we had hoped it would be.

And now, our reminiscing comes to this, our senior year. First those senior pictures come to our minds. Let's see, one for aunt Mary, one for uncle John and of course, a large one for that certain someone. And of course our senior year could never have been complete, without a senior play, so again we got together and produced a successful hit called "In Spring — The Sap." This year saw another spring formal for us, only instead of us busily decorating, the juniors worked hard to put on the prom in honor of us. This last year has contained many memoriies, but standing out foremost among them are the friends we made. We'll always have a place in our heart for, not only our senior classmates, but for all of our lower classmen friends. And now, as graduation draws so near to us, we've begun to think seriously of our future. Many of us decided on college and still others on favoriite occupations and we know as well as the wonderful teachers who gave us our training, know, that every single person in our class is going to make a success of their lives, in whatever they may choose to do.

Junior

It seems strange to me not to see the juniors selling cokes, or promoting some other worth-while affair. And why were they always trying to make money? That's a silly question; why of course it was for the prom. They started the season off with a bang, by working hard and presenting a three-act comedy called "Just Ducky." They sold cokes not only during the school day, but also at the basketball games.

All I can do is wag my tail and say, "Hats off to these enterprising juniors."

Just as I was being ushered into the school on the evening of November 12, the house-lights were being dimmed, and the curtain was going up. The Junior class play "Just Ducky", was about to begin.

The play was about two teen-age girls who wrote a make-believe letter to the editor of a lovelorn column, she thought the letter was real so she went to see the girl's mother, and then things began to happen.

What makes teen-age children do the things they do? Who knows?

Here comes their class sponsor, Mr. Wadngton. They are going to have a class meeting to elect officers.

They gave the freshmen a good initiation, which has left them rather shy. The sophomores look like a nice class.

These freshies have really become part of our school. They started their high school careers off by giving an ice skating party for the sophomores. (Incidently, that ice skating party turned out to be a dance.) But, everyone really had a wonderful time, in spite of the change in the weather.

I'm glad to say that I really am proud of these new arrivals at W.T.H.S.—the freshmen.

I don't believe I've mentioned one of the most important student organizatiions, as yet. But then, there isn't too much that has to be said about the Student Council. You can see many traces of the useful things accomplished by the Student Council throughout this annual.

The Student Council consists of a group of 7 students. It is a form of self government, since these students represent the entire student body in making the rules and methods of governing the school. This council also has funds ready to be given to other organiizations for useful purposes. For example, the treasury was called upon to aid the Photo Club in the purchase of a new developer. These students sponsored the movies held throughout the year and also planned many other programs.

I could go on and on, telling various other things the Student Council has done, but I think it's enough just to say that this small student group has shown that a school, too, can be run successfully in a democratic and representative way.

From the imagination of the people on the yearbook staff came the idea of me. Maybe I had better explain myself. You see these people thought your annual would be much more interesting if they had some one thing take part in all the happenings here at W.T.H.S. So they choose me. The Bulldog, to do that.

I have watched the staff spending many hours at the lay-out, write-ups and photography to make this book a success. The candy staff did a fine job of selling candy at noon and at basketball games to help finance this—your 1949 annual.

What are those girls doing at the machine in the hall, with black smears on their faces. Oh, now I remember, it's time for the school paper "The Bulldog's Bark" to come out, and those girls are running the copies off on the mimeograph.

Not a single basketball game, school party, or any gossip, misses it's rightful place in each edition.

That staff really works together to produce a splendid paper, of which we are all proud.

An opinion shared by the whole school and editors of the annual.*

FFA

I was made mascot of the Wauconda Chapter of the Future Farmers of America this year. I think I am a pretty lucky bulldog, because I was able to go with the boys on their eventful trip to Kansas City, Missouri, to attend the National F.F.A. Convention.

The boys took part in the district F.F.A. Poultry and Grain contest and walked off with top honors in the grain division.

Under the very capable instruction of Mr. Warfield, the boys are developiing fine leadership and are learning modern methods of farming for their places as Future Farmers of America.

I'll bet I am the only male to get into the Wauconda Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America meetngs. While eavesdropping I discovered their theme for this year's program was: "The New Look for Wauconda's Teenagers."

The meetings were held on the first and the third Friday of each month. One a business meeting, the other a social one. To these social meetings, speakers from many varied vocations were invited.

Through the aims set-up by this organization these girls are becoming better citizens and realizing their importance as Future Homemakers of America.

Now these up and coming girls sponsored several parties for the community which were indeed a success (remember the cider and doughnuts at the Hardtime party they had?)

As I walked into the English room on Thursday morning I see a group of people acting strangely. Believe me they are only acting because this is the Dramatics Club.

The first accomplishment of the club this year was a play given Parents' Night entitled "Beachhead for Freedom." Although there were no Bulldog parts in this play, succeeding, one-act and three-act plays found parts to show off all my dramatic ability.

Who knows, maybe this club will be the beginning for another Betty Grable or Van Johnson. Then wouldn't we be even prouder to be a member of the Dramatics Club here at W.T.H.S.

Librarians

So you can't picture a bulldog s a librarian, huh? Well, I'll ave you know I enjoyed it as uch as the other librarians. It as really fun taking care of uch a fine library as we have t W.T.H.S. Each year many ew books are added to the li- rary, so it's kept up to date at ll times. This year we even ot new magazine covers, which elped in keeping the magazines n good condition, and, under ne guidance of Miss McCabe, he student librarians kept a ery orderly and neat library.

I'd better hurry or I'll be late for band practice. Whew, I just made it, there's Mr. Stadfeld raising his baton now.

Say, doesn't that piece that the band is playing sound well? That is the song that they played at the Christmas Concert this year. The Band has also played at Parents Night, gave a Spring Concert and added their peppy marches to many of the basketball games.

Under the direction of Mr. Stadfeld, the Glee Club has sung for many social functions, such as, Parents Night, The Christmas Concert, and at the May Festival.

The football season of 1948 was Wauconda's first year of football. Under the excellent coaching of Mr. Wadington and Mr. Steben, our team, consisting of twenty-five boys, of which eight were seniors and seventeen underclassmen, came through with a very successful season.

Our plays were executed off a single-wing formation, which proved very effective for a six-game schedule, we rolled up a total of ninety three points, giving our opposition only fifty nine.

Next year will be our inaugural year in conference football. We have a good squad of lettermen returning next season to build a better and bigger team than we had this year.

A Father-Son Banquet sponsored by the school brought the season to a successful close.

Wauconda Bulldogs—Scrappiest team in the conference so they called us. With Mr. Wadington at the coaching reins, our fighting varsity came through the season, perhaps not the conference champs, but with the satisfaction of many moral triumphs and a number of scoring victories.

Jr. Varsity Basketball

Captain
Ronald Lindmark

Under the inspiring coaching of Mr. Holz, our puppies came through the season, a contender for the conference title. League leaders until the last game, our scrappy quintet placed second in the conference for the '48-'49 season.

Aside from being a conference leader, the freshmen, half of the Jr. Varsity, also gained league honors. Playing in the Freshmen Tourney, we took second place to close a very successful and victorious season.

Baseball

As I arrived on the baseball field this fine afternoon, I see many of the lettermen of last year's team warming up. Here come coaches Wallace Wadington and Bud Holz now. They told me that there will be fourteen conference games plus six non-conference titles. From where I stand, I see four good hurlers of the previous seasans, which will constitute the pitching staff. The outfield has a few new faces, while the infield looks very familiar.

I can tell that with the high spirits the boys have, a successful season in winning fashion will be their "strike".

Track

This year W.T.H.S. will see one of the largest and best track teams ever turned out since Wauconda's first year in track. With Coach Ralph Steben at the helm, our cinder men will run in every track event and compete in all conference meets as well as the annual district track meet, in which we hope to win the right to enter one or more trackmen in state competiton.

Left to right: M. Reardon, V. Howells, R. Davlin, J. Davis, D. Claypool.

Poor Joe

Poor Joe he did have him a gal,
This gal had the cute name of Sal.
She had big buck teeth
And two chins beneath
So Joe gave his gal to his pal.

Doris Claypool

Dumb

As I sit here, with my six weeks test,
I rack my brain, trying to do my best
Then I think, what a bunch of baloney,
Could I help it, I forgot my pony.
I looked at the questions, I thought and I read,
To tell you the truth, I'd be better off dead.
This Longfellow was sure a big wheel,
But to me, Longfellow is another Shemeal.

Message

You see, I've read the Bible through at times,
And know of God and all His wondrous signs.
How He was sent upon the earth to save
The souls of all the sinners and their slaves.
Since God was good enough to save our souls,
We all should live with truth and right our goal,
And When on Judgement day, We all must die,
Our souls shall rise and rest with God on high.

Poems

Romantic, Heek!

The weather was wet but the road lookeddry.
It was a short cut, we gave it a try.
With the moon above, it looked romantic,
Little we knew that we'd soon be frantic.
The weather was dry, the road turned out wet.
With three feet of mud our tires soon met.
Romantic when muddy, dreary, and cold?

Martha Natali

The Patient Husband

Poor Jim is knocking at his dear wife's door
She calls to him to wait two minutes more
He sits and waits while she makes up her face,
And soon the floor poor Jim begins to pace.
She puts a little powder on her nose,
And pretty soon the lipstick on her goes,
She primps and pulls and stops to add more trim,
And says when ready; Can't you hurry, Jim?

Mad Man - Hole Man

I know a young man who is queer!
He saw a man-hole; all was clear
He threw a match down
And blew up the town!
Now all in the town are in fear.
